ABOUT MY CAREER

As a current student in second year, I have gained a solid foundation in programming through my academic studies. However, I understand that practical experience is essential in the field of programming. To supplement my academic studies, I have actively sought out opportunities to gain practical experience. I have built my own projects, attended coding events and seminars, and practiced on coding platforms. Through these experiences, I have honed my skills in programming and gained valuable exposure to real-world projects. I always want to be one step ahead!
